

AEC Workforce: Trends, Challenges & Solutions

The Association for Architectural and Engineering Business Leaders (AEBL) and AIA Central Valley have teamed up for an informative panel discussion addressing:

- What AEC companies are doing to retain their staff – both male and female – through the transitional periods in their lives?
- What is the business case for part-time or flex-time workers?
- How are companies addressing healthcare costs and other fixed costs for part-time workers?
- What other incentives do companies believe could be provided to their staff?
- What do they see as within their economic means to provide? What is the cost-benefit of providing these added benefits?
- How local firms address employee life transitions and challenges and how it effects their culture.

Date: March 30, 2017

Time: 5:30 - 6:00 refreshments; 6:00 - 7:30 panel discussion + Q&A

Place: AIA Central Valley Gallery, 1400 S Street, Suite 100, Sacramento

Cost: $10 members, $20 non-members, Free for students with valid ID

Learning Units: 1.5 AIA Learning Units

Register by: Monday, March 27 to: aecworkforce.bpt.me

Questions? Contact info@aiacv.org or call 916-444-3658

Sponsored by:

&

For reasonable accommodations or alternate formats please contact AIACV 72 hours prior to the event.

Rosa T. Sheng, AIA
Bohlin Cywinski Jackson
Chair, Missing 32% Project

Krista Looza, SE
Buehler & Buehler Structural Engineers, Inc.
Associate Principal / Regional Office Manager

Lindsey Maclise, SE,
LEED AP
Forell / Elsesser Engineers
Senior Associate / Panel Moderator

Naaz Alikhan, CID,
LEED AP
Williams + Paddon
Principal / Interior Designer

John Stump
Flint Builders
President

Courtney McLeod Golden,
AIA, LEED AP, NCARB
Dreyfuss + Blackford Architecture
Partner / Civic & Education Dir

Larry Yee, AIA
Stantec
Principal