Join hosts Arturo Levenfeld, AIA, Saxon Sigerson, AIA and Kris Barkley, AIA for a slightly different evening of discussion with architects Etienne Louw, AIA and Peter Saucerman, AIA on the legacy of Swiss architect Le Corbusier.

In his book Towards a New Architecture, Le Corbusier wrote "Space and light and order. Those are the things that men need just as much as they need bread or a place to sleep". Has Le Corbusier provided for these elevated needs with his architecture? Explore three "Corbu" projects through the lens of a recent architectural tour of his work in France as experienced by Peter and Etienne.

We will have a presentation followed by an open discussion led by Arturo Levenfeld, AIA.
