AIA Central Valley, the Committee on Architecture for Education (CAE), and a team of amazing volunteers have designed an updated, streamlined Outreach Cottage for Mustard Seed School. Now we need YOUR help to bring it to reality!

The Outreach Cottage is the first stop for parents and children when they enroll their children in Mustard Seed School, so this project is an important one for both those seeking services, and the staff who serve them.

We invite architects of all backgrounds, associates, allied members students and the general public to participate. We will be painting and doing tasks at the school. Wear work clothes, closed toed shoes and bring gloves!

A light breakfast and snacks will be provided. Participants will be required to sign a release of liability prior to assisting. If you are unable to participate, but want to help, please consider purchasing an item from the school's Amazon Wishlist: <http://a.co/2OrySoh>

ABOUT MUSTARD SEED SCHOOL

Mustard Seed School was established in 1989 to help meet the needs of homeless children. Many school age children do not attend school because of their homelessness; some lack immunizations, birth certificates, or other documents, some are in transit, and almost all lack a support system. In spite of their situation, these children are eager to learn and to be accepted. Mustard Seed School fills this need in a warm, inviting and supportive environment.
