Join us for an overview of Title 24, Part 6 (energy code) and what YOU, the Architect, need to be aware of so that a project successfully integrates energy code requirements. As our energy code becomes more stringent in anticipation of California's Zero Net Energy (ZNE) goals, coordination among the entire design team is a must! Commissioning and using an integrated design process, are some of the approaches that presenter Marina Chevez-Blanco will review in this event, along with many free resources, tools and training available through Energy Code Ace (www.energycodeace.com).
