HANDS-ON ARCHITECTURE: LEARN, BUILD, SKETCH & COLOR FOR KIDS

Presented by AIACV's Committee on Architecture for Education (CAE)

A family-friendly activity designed to help children 12 and under learn about architecture through children's books on architecture and hands-on activities including building, sketching and coloring.

The event will have three stations:

- a book reading and hands-on activity from the Chapter's Architecture by the Book program. This program is designed to help students learn about architecture through books featuring a variety of renowned and diverse architects. This program "in a box" is available to educators in our community for use in STEAM enrichment activities.

- a Kid's drawing activity, children will learn about elements of design and create pencil sketches of a building with guidance from architects

- a coloring station, featuring the Chapter's new Architecture Coloring Book, highlighting local architectural projects and the architects who designed them

Activities are led by architect volunteers, and are designed for kids up to middle-school age, who must come with a parent or guardian. All materials, a light snack and water will be provided.

Experience Architecture is an annual public-outreach event that is developed and led by AIA architects and associate members in collaboration with our Allied members, Sustaining Partners and community organizations. It's designed to facilitate greater transparency with the public in how architects create our built environment and how it impacts their daily lives; to create an ongoing dialogue to inform a distinct, regional, architectural identity; and to highlight existing relationships between the region and its architecture.
